Project proposal description

Description of the project idea

The project aims to reduce environmental pollution in cross-border regions by establishing a joint waste management system, introducing selective waste collection, and raising the environmental awareness of local residents. Within the initiative, it is planned to conduct a joint environmental audit, develop unified action plans, and install containers for selective household waste collection in local communities. The practical component includes training sessions for specialists, creating a network of youth environmental patrols, organizing cross-border clean-up competitions (eco-marathons and plogging events), as well as launching a large-scale awareness campaign and demonstration sorting centers to teach children and adults proper waste management practices. We are looking for partners for the joint submission and implementation of this cross-border environmental initiative.

Expected role of the partner institution	The partner institution will be actively involved in both the analytical and practical implementation of the project. Key responsibilities will include conducting an environmental audit and waste structure analysis, as well as developing joint action plans and methodological guidelines for waste management. The partner will take the lead in organizing and delivering practical training sessions for local authorities, public utilities, and businesses. Additionally, the institution will be responsible for stakeholder engagement, managing public relations, and executing communication and dissemination activities to share project results and promote environmental awareness across the target regions.
